UPSIDES OF LIVING IN BGC

Bonifacio Global City is not considered to be one of the best cities to live in the Philippines for no reason. So of course, there's a good deal of upsides of living in BGC. Some of these upsides include:

- Convenience
- Westernization
- Less Traffic & Pollution
- Flood Free
- Strong Wifi
- Pedestrian Friendly
- Great Nightlife Scene

UPSIDES OF BGC

#1: CONVENIENCE

Everything in BGC is within walking distance to each other so using a car is not needed for 99% of residents staying primarily in the city. Combined with the many grocery stores, western infrastructure, and accessibility to imported goods, BGC offers convenience at its finest.

#2: WESTERNIZED

The first thing most expats notice about BGC is how westernized it is in comparison to the other cities in Manila. The city is clean, there's no shortage of international establishments, and English is spoken by practically everyone in the city.

BGC is also the only major city in the Philippines to be free of crowded power lines!

UPSIDES OF BGC

#3: LESS TRAFFIC & POLLUTION

Due to the wide streets and sidewalks, well thought out infrastructure, and western influenced development planning, the traffic in BGC is much less of a problem than that of other cities in Manila and Cebu.

In addition to that, the greenery, landscaping, and many trees contribute to the lower levels of pollution in the city. So needless to say, congestion in BGC is not a factor to worry about.

#4: FLOOD FREE

The BGC development features an all-underground utility system, keeping the streets orderly and decent looking for the public. It also features an on-site flood mitigation facility using storm water management and a sustainable urban drainage system to reduce flood peaks at the downstream areas of the development.

#5: STRONG WIFI

The Philippines is well known to have not only some of the slowest wifi speeds in the world, but also the most expensive. BGC on the other hand delivers fast and reliable wifi especially in comparison to the provinces of the Philippines.

#6: PEDESTRIAN FRIENDLY

As mentioned, everything in BGC is within walking distance from each other. With the many parks, wide streets, high safety, and dog friendly community, BGC is a great place to stroll around.

#7: GREAT NIGHTLIFE SCENE

Among the top reasons expats and locals like BGC is because of the lively nightlife scene. Residents from all over Manila will come in at night to have some drinks, party, and have a fun night out in the city.
